THE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND TRIES ON CHINA AND JAPAN."
EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.
the "Strait Times," July 27, 1868. no time ago we had occasion to remark the progress that Literature has made by the Press had made and was being in the East, and our attention has been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which gives some notice and which we have pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes on China and Japan, published by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the Mail newspaper.

printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known native prototype at home, and is equally containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the country, and in a less degree of the Japanese. It is a good deal for the extent and variety of the footing of Europeans in that country.

that such a publication as this be established and conducted with ably successful vigour. publication is altogether a very ingenu-ine one, and wishing it every success, I commend it to the attention and support of all our readers.

(the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868.)

I acknowledge with thanks the receipt numbers for the current year, of "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Chinese monthly, edited by Mr. N. W. Pons, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the material attached to the "Notes" we can see that our contributors include some of the ablest Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will doubtless acquire rected their attention towards the of Buddhism and its literature, and to all who are interested in originalities. It deserves to be better known in India.

From the "London Examiner," May 18, 1868.)

really useful volume ["The Buddhist na and Japan"] is intended as a for travellers and residents in China man, and as a book of reference for military men generally. It contains an historical and political, of all the of these countries, together with Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. It carefully compiled and edited by B. Desjains; and the elaborate maps ably enhance its value. * * * We thus given in outline some of the prominent portions of the chapter on Canton, as a specimen of the volume. Other chapters treating of Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghai, and the remainder of the treaty ports, we can enumerate. The pages describing the capital, are so interesting, and so much that is new to European respecting its history, public build-and general characteristics, that we ain transfer them to our columns. lete and intelligible plan of the Im-ity and neighbourhood, gives us an notion of the relative position of ions, streets, and places.

An introductory chapter to the notices great Ports of Japan, such as

... history of that Empire, together marks on its government, geography, its, which will be found particularly ing as throwing a considerable light t of the world so long entirely, and comparatively, unknown to Europeans.
